

Dear all,

I am a resident of 810 11th Street in Miami Beach. Over the last 18 -24 months we've had varying degrees of construction in our neighborhood due to the raising of the roads, sewer pump system replacement and pump station renovation. The contractor that performed this work, David Maroni and Sons, Inc. (DMSI), was/is extremely communicative in the scope of the work and did not hesitate to respond to concerns or questions our association had, often providing above expectation solutions. Friendly, professional, tidy, and courteous, their team handled the many set backs, and consequently our frustrations, with resolve and attention. They also generously and thoughtfully helped to re-landscape and rebuild our fencing due to the new sidewalk reconstruction, something the city wasn't willing to do we were told. We couldn't be happier in how they treated us and showed a level of concern and thoughtfulness as if they lived in our neighborhood. A special shout out to Jeanette Gorgas, the liaison that managed the resident to company communication. She was a gem to interact with and responded promptly to every issue we had. We really appreciated that and her.

In the future, please consider DMSI first when continuing the massive project of raising the roads, or any other large scope project, around Miami Beach.

Best,

Sean McCabe
